Marvin Gaye's song cast a long shadow on both the RBC and the pop scene of the time, topped both Billboard charts before Christmas in February. But as the magazine published its new best-selling rhythm and blues singles chart on January 25, Johnny Taylor had something new to say. The Stax star, who paid a lot of fees both in an earlier deal with Derby and with some mid-range hits on the respected Memphis label, has now really hit In fact, his signature groove Who Makes Love was a million-selling single that led the soul charts just before Marvin's reign, and as he released a follow-up, he was immediately on to another winner. The song in question was Take Care Of Your Homework, written by an impressive quartet, including Northern Soul hero Homer Banks, writer-producer Raymond Jackson, T. (Thomas) Kelly, and another respected producer and songwriter, former Motown collaborator Don Davis. All but Kelly also wrote Who Makes Love, with Betty Crutcher, and has now turned his hand to another confident, brassy track fueled by Taylor's abrasive but Vocal and lyrical advice to men not to take their home life and loves for granted. Further difference occurred in the production of Davis and Al Jackson Jr., a sought-after and revered drummer with Booker T and MGs and far beyond. Both hits were on Taylor's new album Who's Making Love..., described by Billboard as powerful. A review of the trade title single gave him the Top 20 Pop Spotlight, watching taylor come up with more winning, clever top 10 material with dynamic vocal workouts and wild, funky dance beat in strong support. 'Take Care Of Your Homework' entered the Hot 100 a week before its RBC debut, which came at No 30, as the single raced 67-40 on the pop countdown. It wiped up that Billboard forecast with a Peak Of 20 there, but proved to be a bigger hit on the soul side. He climbed all the way to No.2 to become the second of an impressive eight consecutive top-ten RBC hits for a man from Crawfordsville, Arkansas. Take care of your homework is on Who Makes Love... which you can buy here. Listen to the best Stax recordings on Apple Music and Spotify. Spotify. take care of your homework lyrics johnnie taylor
